Foundation Year

Foundation Year is a nonresidential program providing an academically rigorous and supportive first-year college experience, creating an environment where students are able to go on to be successful for their entire Northeastern college career. Students who successfully complete Foundation Year will matriculate into a degree program at Northeastern through one of two pathways: through Northeastern's College of Professional Studies (CPS) or one of Northeastern's seven undergraduate day colleges by meeting academic standards. Upon matriculation into CPS or one of the undergraduate day colleges, eligible students will have their full demonstrated need met. For more information, please visit northeastern.edu/admissions/foundation-year.
